Welcome

The 8th China-Europe Symposium on Biomaterials in Regenerative Medicine will be held in Nuremberg, Germany, from September 15 to 18, 2024.

CESB2024 aims at bringing together two Biomaterials Societies that have been collaborating for many years to bring forward significant advances to the field of Biomaterials with focus on Regenerative Medicine applications.

The workshop will review the latest trends and the progress of frontier research in biomaterials science and engineering, including advances in clinical research and translation. The broad field of biomaterials research will be covered in the symposium, including but not limited to the following topics: advanced materials for tissue repair and regeneration, nanomedicine and immunotherapy, bioimaging, biofabrication, and drug delivery systems. The conference will bring together two Societies and researchers from life sciences and engineering, clinicians and industry representatives to provide an effective environment for stimulating exchange and discussions.

On behalf of the organizing committee,
Prof Aldo R. Boccaccini (Organiser)
Prof Ana Paula Pêgo (ESB President)
Prof Changsheng Liu (CSB President)

Main topics of the conference

- Advanced metallic biomaterials
- Bio-related Polymers
- Bioceramics in regenerative medicine
- Advanced biocomposites
- Multi-functional hydrogels
- Nanomaterials and nanomedicine
- Biomaterials for bone regeneration
- Biomaterials for Cartilage Regeneration
- Biomaterials for Nerve Regeneration
- Vascular Regeneration Biomaterials
- Biomaterials in cancer microenvironment
- Marine Biomaterials
- Biomaterials Surfaces and Interfaces
- Cardiovascular biomaterials
- Dental biomaterials
